- Purpose: A digital "cheat sheet" for learners to keep on their phones to use during client negotiations.

5 Red Flags of a Scammer:

e.g. 5 Red Flags of a Scammer:
The client asks to move the conversation to Telegram or WhatsApp before a contract is started.
The client asks for a "test job" that is actually a full piece of work for free.
The client offers to pay via gift cards or crypto instead of the platform's verified system.
The job description is vague and offers a suspiciously high rate for very little work.
The client has no "Verified Payment" shield and a history of poor ratings from other freelancers.

1. The client wants to move communication off platform immediately.
2. The client requests a "sample task" that is actually real project work.
3. The client promises unusually high pay for very little work.
4. The client refuses to provide clear project details or business information.
5. The client suggests payment outside the platform or through unverified methods.

The 3-Step Dispute Protocol:

e.g. The 3-Step Dispute Protocol:
Stop work immediately and keep all further communication strictly on the platform's official chat.
Gather all proof of work (screenshots, drafts, and delivery receipts) as evidence.
Click the "Help" or "Dispute" button to bring in a professional platform mediator to resolve the issue safely.

1. Stop any additional work immediately and keep all communication on the platform.
2. Collect screenshots of conversations, campaign reports, submitted files, revision requests, contracts, and proof of completed work.
3. Use the platform's official dispute resolution system to report the issue and provide your evidence.
